Ladies and gentlemen,

We now have nearly three years of fighting the SARS-COV-2 pandemic under our belts. Fighting an “opponent” we did not know before and who has changed our world beyond recognition. Practically from one day to the next, we had to re-learn how to manage our businesses, how to plan in very uncertain times, often not knowing what the immediate future would bring.

2022 brought new, unexpected challenges and was no less demanding than 2019. Only that the challenges were completely different! On February 24, 2022, Russia unjustifiably militarily attacked our neighbour - Ukraine. In addition to the humanitarian tragedy, the war has again brought serious economic perturbations to our world. Raging inflation, problems with the availability of hydrocarbon raw materials, their radical price increase, dynamic increase in interest rates, suspension of the demand sphere again put the Polish furniture industry in a difficult and demanding position.

Companies were “up against the wall” due to rising prices of raw materials and materials, more expensive energy, and rising wage costs. Research by the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers showed that the increase in raw material prices reached even 80%%, and this was not the end of the increases. There was no other option and the industry had to raise product prices.

However, despite the furniture price increases that were necessary in this difficult situation, the Polish furniture industry’s offer has remained competitive and Polish furniture has continued to be attractive for customers. It is worth mentioning here that the increase in furniture production was faster than the increase in employment, which means an improvement in the efficiency of our factories.

Despite the aforementioned obstacles, we are ending 2022 on a moderately optimistic note. We expected to maintain production at the level of 2021. Employment in the industry has returned to pre-pandemic levels, i.e. around 165 000 FTEs and nearly 200 000 workers. We have increased production and exports to some new markets in the industry. For example, exports to the United States, where the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers has opened an exhibition of Polish furniture-making, increased by as much as 25%. On top of this, the value of the export will be close to 13 billion EUR in 2022!

I would like to take this opportunity to wish you that the coming year will be a year of business stability for all of us, giving us a sense of broadly understood business and health security, which we will use as an impulse for further dynamic development of our companies and the Polish furniture industry.

Michał Strzelecki
Office Director of the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers

The Polish furniture sector is an export leader

Recent years have proved that Poland is the global leader in the production and export of furniture, especially in the context of the prevailing SARS-COV-2 pandemic in 2021. The year 2022 is the beginning of another, this time more serious, global crisis. In February 2022, Russia's invasion of Ukraine began to further exacerbate existing problems such as inflation or high energy and material costs. The Polish furniture industry, which turned out to be very resilient during the pandemic, must further strengthen its high position in the world rankings in the current economic situation. Data on production prove the success of the Polish furniture sector, and recently the country has moved up the global ranking of furniture manufacturers – from 10th to 6th position.

Poland manufactures all types of furniture, allowing to differentiate and adapt the products both in terms of available materials and their finish and design. The Polish furniture industry certainly uses high quality materials and components, and we have access to the latest technologies as well.

The furniture industry remains one of the most significant sectors of the Polish economy. According to estimates by B+R Studio in 2022, the value of sold products of furniture companies amounted to PLN 64,7 bn (including micro-enterprises with less than 10 employees).

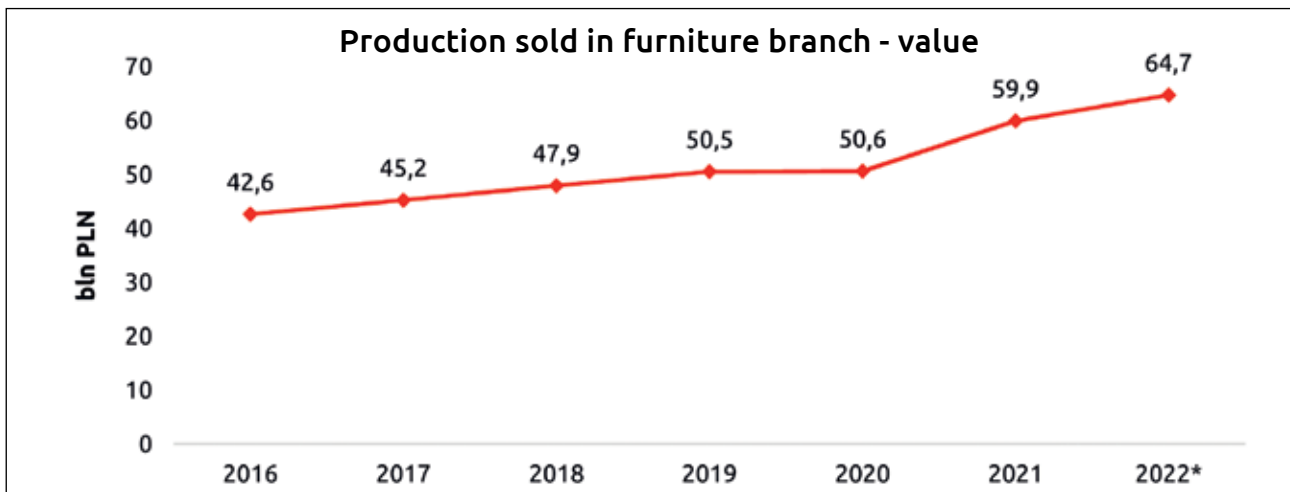

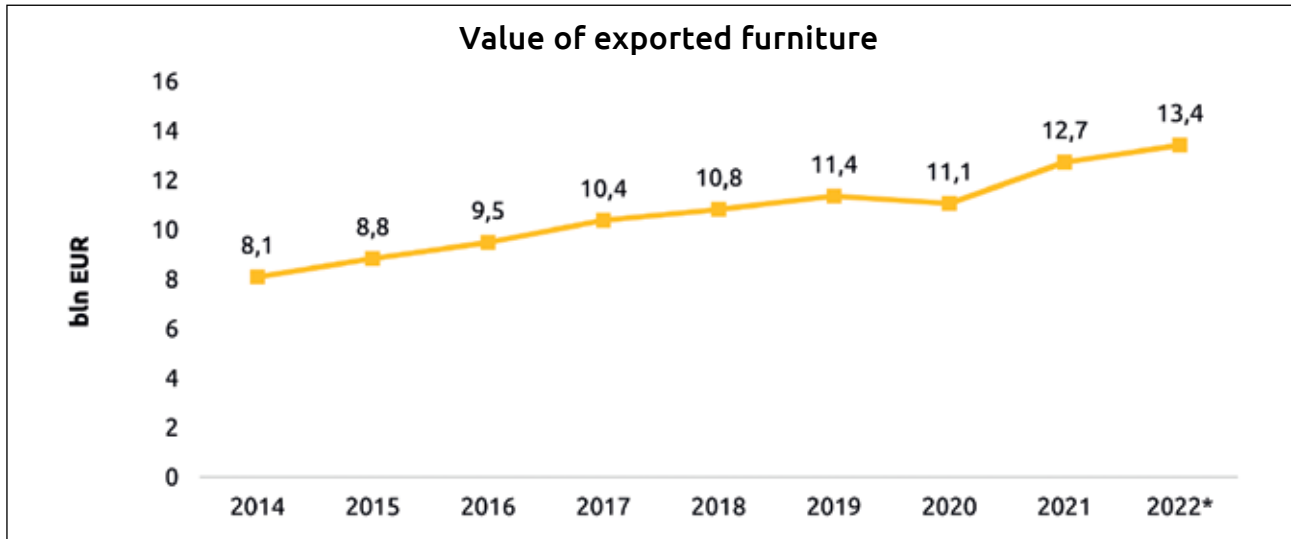

Fig. 1 Sold production of the furniture sector in Poland in 2016 – 2022*
Source: calculations of the Polish Central Statistical Office; * B+R Studio estimates

The Polish furniture sector ranks second (after Italy) in terms of registered companies selling furniture. More than 30 thousand entities are involved in the manufacture of furniture in Poland - more specifically, at the end of 2020, the number was 30,919 companies. Out of these, 84 entities are large companies with more than 250 employees, 290 entities are medium-sized companies (50–249 employees), 1,254 are small companies and 29,291 account for micro-enterprises with less than 10 employees.

Export is without doubt the major driving force for the Polish furniture sector. In 2021, Poland ranked 2nd in the global furniture manufacturers' ranking due to its exports accounting for EUR 12.7 bn. According to the data published by UNO, as regards the value of export, in 2021 Poland was overtaken by China (USD 88 bn).

2020 is the year in which exports from Poland have been limited by the Covid-19 pandemics. 2021 was the year in which international trade returned to the right track after the restrictions in 2020 related to the pandemic. According to Eurostat the value of export in Euro increased by 3%, accounting for EUR 12.7 bn. Over the last ten years, the value of export of Polish furniture increased by over 100%. According to the forecasts by B+R Studio, in 2022 the value of furniture export from Poland will exceed EUR 13.4 bn.

Germany has been the main importer of Polish furniture for many years – EUR 4.643 mln. Export to the UK the second largest importer, reached EUR 940 mln. Further positions are occupied by Czech Republic and France.

Opportunities for the Polish furniture sector

Poland is one of the fastest growing countries in terms of furniture production. Its perfect geographical location near the wealthy Western European countries gives it competitive advantage over many other countries. Its long tradition and well established position among recipients of furniture in Europe give the Polish furniture manufacturers customers' trust and brand awareness. Additionally, the opportunities of the Polish furniture sector include that of a greater share in the markets of developed countries and emerging markets.

FSC® is proud to support the Polish furniture manufacturers

For 25 years Forest Stewardship Council® has set standards for environmentally, socially and economically responsible forest management. FSC works to take care of the world's forests for future generations. We support this through a global forest certification system that awards forest management and chain of custody certificates. In practice, this means that when a product or packaging bears the FSC label, customers are assured that it has been made with forest-based materials from responsible sources.

FSC is recognized and trusted by consumers

FSC is the world's most recognized and trusted forest-certification scheme. 56% of global consumers (and 59% in Poland) recall seeing the FSC logo. Also, 54% of global consumers trust FSC to protect forests – which is higher than governments, companies and individuals. Such recognition of FSC brand translates into consumers' behaviors. 77% of shoppers, who are aware of FSC, will choose an FSC-certified product over its non-certified equivalent.

Furniture is a flagship of Polish export – FSC is proud to support this success

The furniture sector is a shining star of Polish economy. Poland is the largest exporter of furniture in the European Union and second largest globally, preceded only by China. Currently 70-80% of furniture produced in the country, worth USD 12,6 billion, is exported. Last but not least, the sector employs around 180 thousand people, mostly in less developed parts of the country, where unemployment rate traditionally used to be higher than in cities.

The Polish furniture industry proves that FSC is a great tool for expanding business and enter new markets all around the world. Currently 891 companies in Poland (as of December 2022), who hold FSC certificate, have indoor and/or outdoor furniture in scope of their certification. This makes Poland the largest FSC market in the EU. Polish certificate holders range from small manufacturers to huge companies with global reach.

The success of FSC in Poland was possible thanks to the broad access to certified timber – almost 6 million hectares of forests in the country are FSC-certified. Such broad supply of timber enabled rapid growth of domestic furniture industry – many Polish companies became well-known brands in Europe and globally. This also attracted to Poland the largest global furniture companies, many of which have FSC-preference policy when it comes to wood supply.

FSC label assures your clients that timber was responsibly sourced

Tracing materials back to the forest they came from is complex as supply chains are difficult to follow. FSC system, which includes control of the whole supply chain – from forest to final product, helps companies and their clients make sure that wood used for furniture has been responsibly sourced.

As consumers and businesses seek to reduce their impact on the environment, demand for sustainable products is rapidly growing. FSC can help businesses meet this demand. FSC certification demonstrates commitment of many Polish furniture producers to responsible forest management, which brings social, environmental and economic benefits of forests.

Operating in the market for more than 20 years, LENORT FURNITURE is well-known among customers around the world. Its business is primarily focused on the distribution of upholstered furniture, including corners, upholstered beds, and accessories mainly to Central Europe and third countries. Minimizing costs and streamlining the supply chain are one of the company's main advantages.

LENORT FURNITURE, authorized dealer of WERSAL Furniture Factory [WERSAL, WERNIGHT, WERNATURE Brands] although globally it has been in business for more than 20 years, began selling its products outside the country around 2012. Thus, the last 10 years are considered the most developmental and the most dynamic. Demonstrating capability, and potential and also offering top-quality products has positioned the company as one of the best distributors of upholstered furniture. At first, the main markets were Scandinavian countries, nevertheless, it soon turned out that the services offered are also in demand in other countries, including third countries - Israel, the USA, and others.

www.lenort.eu

The strength that lies within the company is based on long-term relationships with business partners, which not only offer a myriad of opportunities but also provide security and stable, professional care throughout the commercial process. The quality of the services provided has been a priority for the owner from the very beginning, and it has remained so to this day. So focusing on customer satisfaction and professional service has allowed LENORT FURNITURE not only to sell upholstered furniture widely but above all to build a solid position in the international market.

Among the products offered by LENORT FURNITURE you can find products that have been divided into several collections. It is worth mentioning that the Avangarde collection dominates the sale, i.e. corners, and sofas equipped with additional functions, providing the potential recipient with maximum comfort – we are talking about electrically adjustable seats, movable headrests, relaxation functions as well as sleeping or container functions. Everything is based on modern solutions, implemented in cooperation with leading manufacturers of mechanisms from around the world. Another sector is models from the Simple and Young lines, which have the most important features – perfectly fitting into the most commercial, commercial shelf. In addition to the corners, the company offers an extremely wide selection of upholstered beds – body, continental, and from 2022 – also platform. They are complemented by an offer of mattresses and toppers, which makes LENORT FURNITURE offer complete home furnishings in the sense of soft furniture, which all of them are produced by WERSAL Furniture Company, located in Poland.

Each of the products, in addition to the high-quality finish, has several hundred possibilities in terms of color selection and type of finish. Furniture is verified at every stage of production, which confirms that quality is what counts above all for LENORT FURNITURE – not limiting the services provided, but extending this perspective to the upholstered furniture itself.

LENORT FURNITURE exports products all over the world, there are no borders. For us, furniture is unique - it is the furniture that gives the character of the interior, which becomes a unique place for us - the Home.
