Ladies and gentlemen,

We now have nearly two years of fighting the SARS-COV-2 pandemic under our belts. Fighting an “opponent” we did not know before and who has changed our world beyond recognition. Practically from one day to the next, we had to re-learn how to manage our businesses, how to plan in very uncertain times, often not knowing what the immediate future would bring.

2021 brought new, unexpected challenges and was no less demanding than 2020. Only that the challenges were completely different! Companies were “up against the wall” in the middle of the year due to rising prices of raw materials and materials, more expensive energy, and rising wage costs. Research by the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers showed that the increase in raw material prices in the middle of the year reached 25-33%, and this was not the end of the increases. There was no other option and the industry had to raise product prices. This was compounded by disruptions to supply chains for customers in Western Europe and the United States.

However, despite the furniture price increases that were necessary in this difficult situation, the Polish furniture industry’s offer has remained competitive and Polish furniture has continued to be attractive for customers. It is worth mentioning here that the increase in furniture production was faster than the increase in employment, which means an improvement in the efficiency of our factories.

Of course, we are concerned about the sustainability of the current strong demand trend and the consequences of high inflation, and these are not the only risks on the horizon. Polish manufacturers today have to monitor the situation globally, and things like power shortages in Asia translate into reduced availability of the paints and dyes used in the production of fabrics from which we later make upholstered furniture.

Despite the aforementioned obstacles, we are ending 2021 on an optimistic note. We expected an increase in production, but the result with which we end the year has exceeded our wildest expectations. Employment in the industry has returned to pre-pandemic levels, i.e. around 165 000 FTEs and nearly 200 000 workers. We have increased production and exports to key markets in the industry. For example, exports to the United States, where the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers has opened an exhibition of Polish furniture-making, increased by as much as 26%. On top of this, Polskie furniture will record an unprecedented combined production and export growth of 21% in 2021, which translates into an approximately 10 billion PLN increase compared to 2020. The value of sold production will be close to 60 billion PLN!

I would like to take this opportunity to wish you that the coming year will be a year of business stability for all of us, giving us a sense of broadly understood business and health security, which we will use as an impulse for further dynamic development of our companies and the Polish furniture industry.

Michał Strzelecki
Office Director of the Polish Chamber of Commerce of Furniture Manufacturers

The Polish furniture sector is an export leader

Recent years have proved that Poland is the global leader in the production and export of furniture, especially in the context of the prevailing SARS-COV-2 pandemic. The high quality of the furniture manufactured in Poland and still relatively low labour costs are the main factors contributing to this success. In addition, the many years' tradition and efforts of large, medium-sized and small enterprises should not be forgotten. Data on production prove the success of the Polish furniture sector, and recently the country has moved up the global ranking of furniture manufacturers – from 10th to 6th position.

Poland manufactures all types of furniture, allowing to differentiate and adapt the products both in terms of available materials and their finish and design. The Polish furniture industry certainly uses high quality materials and components, and we have access to the latest technologies as well.

The furniture industry remains one of the most significant sectors of the Polish economy. According to estimates by B+R Studio in 2020, the value of sold products of furniture companies amounted to PLN 50,6 bn (including micro-enterprises with less than 10 employees). According to the forecasts by B+R Studio, the value of products sold by the furniture industry in 2021 will account for PLN 59,5 bn (including micro-enterprises).

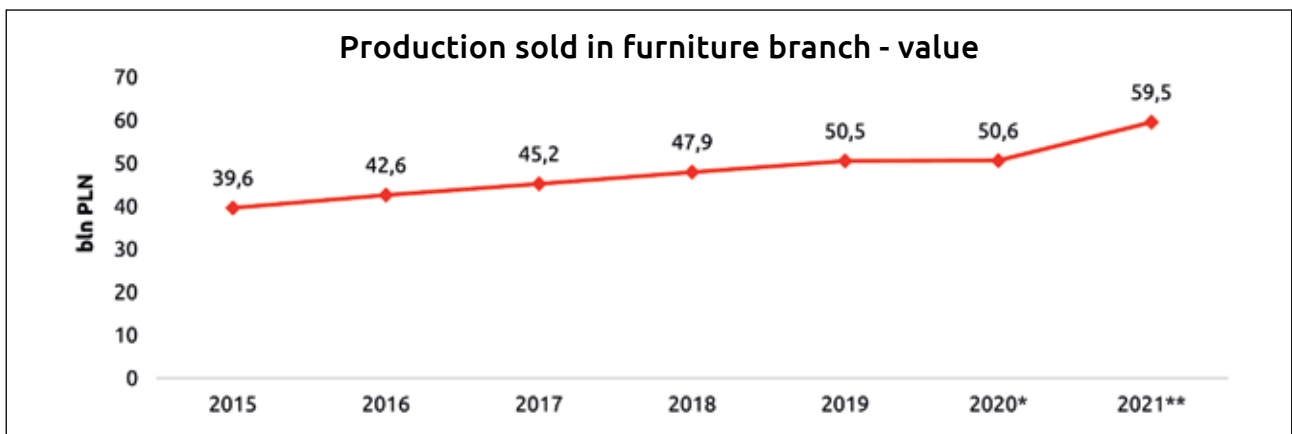

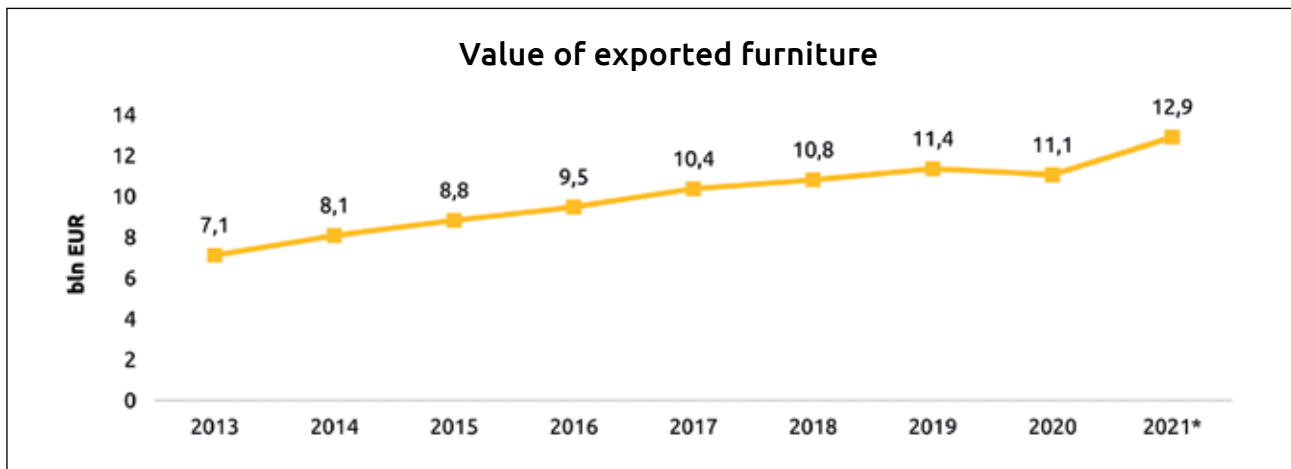

Fig. 1 Sold production of the furniture sector in Poland in 2015 – 2021**
Source: calculations of the Polish Central Statistical Office; * B+R Studio estimates;
** B+R Studio prognosis

The Polish furniture sector ranks second (after Italy) in terms of registered companies selling furniture. More than 30 thousand entities are involved in the manufacture of furniture in Poland - more specifically, at the end of 2020, the number was 30,919 companies. Out of these, 84 entities are large companies with more than 250 employees, 290 entities are medium-sized companies (50–249 employees), 1,254 are small companies and 29,291 account for micro-enterprises with less than 10 employees.

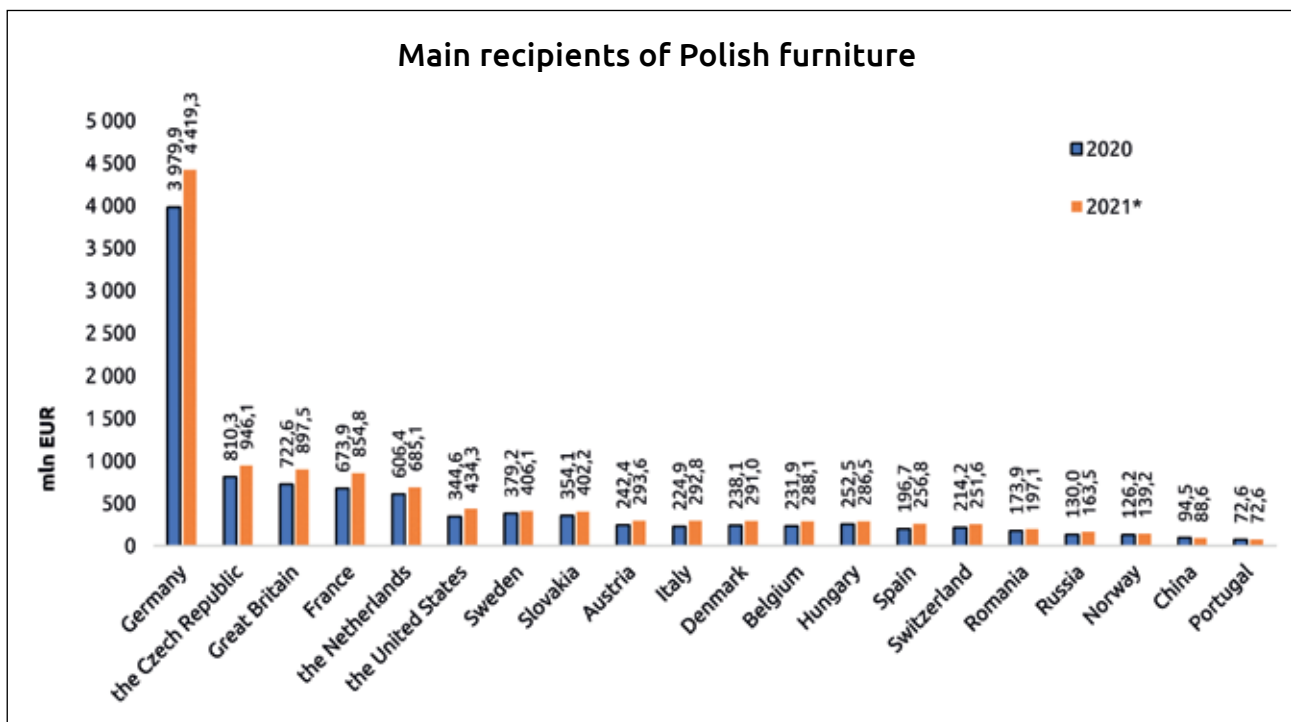

Export is without doubt the major driving force for the Polish furniture sector. In 2020, Poland ranked 2nd in the global furniture manufacturers' ranking due to its exports accounting for EUR 11.1 bn. According to the data published by UNO, as regards the value of export, in 2020 Poland was overtaken by China (USD 70 bn).

2020 is the year in which exports from Poland have been limited by the Covid-19 pandemics. According to Eurostat the value of export in Euro fell by 3%, accounting for EUR 11.1 bn. Over the last nine years, the value of export of Polish furniture increased by more than 96%. According to the forecasts by B+R Studio, in 2021 the value of furniture export from Poland will exceed EUR 12.9 bn.

Germany has been the main importer of Polish furniture for many years – EUR 4.419 mln. Export to the Czech Republic, the second largest importer, reached EUR 946 mln. Further positions are occupied by the UK and France.

Opportunities for the Polish furniture sector

Poland is one of the fastest growing countries in terms of furniture production. Its perfect geographical location near the wealthy Western European countries gives it competitive advantage over many other countries. Its long tradition and well established position among recipients of furniture in Europe give the Polish furniture manufacturers customers' trust and brand awareness. Additionally, the opportunities of the Polish furniture sector include that of a greater share in the markets of developed countries and emerging markets.
